

Henley Road Cemetery Burial Registers

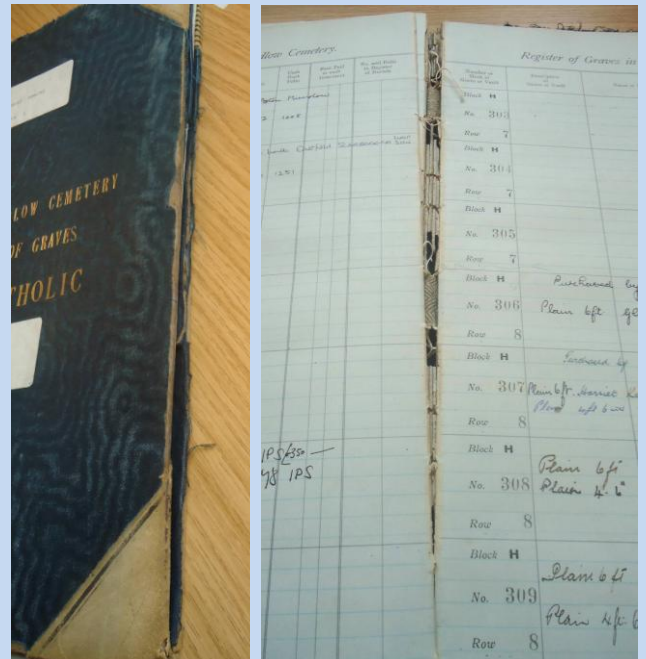

Burial Register in need of repair

Some of the Burial Registers have been in use for almost 100 years. They are the sole record of burials, recording who resides in each graves and who owns the grave plots. The register is available upon request at the Town Council offices.

As the books have been in use for many years some are in need of repairs and restoration. Recently the Burial Register for plots D, E, F and L were considered in, such a bad state that it needed to be rebound, because many pages had come away from the spine.

To help protect these books from damage the Town Council has purchased a supportive book stand, which the books rest on while being used to reduce damage to the spine. With these preventative measures in place hopefully the register books will be in use without repairs for another 100 years.
