

@TheButtercross Museum & Heritage Centre Under Construction!

The Buttercross Museum & Heritage Centre is progressing well. The old plasterwork has been taking off and taken back to its original shell. The ceiling batons and rafters have been strengthened and reformed to allow a better structure to plaster onto. The timber frame for the internal walls have been constructed and all of the plumbing work and electrical points have been thread ready for the plaster boards to be applied.

By constructing the internal walls before the plasterwork has been applied to the ceiling this will avoid any movement and disturbance while it is left to dry properly and securely.

Ludlow Town Council is working with Ludlow Museum and Friends of Ludlow Museum to create a new space for some of the heritage based artefacts for Ludlow. Alongside this technologies will be used to bring aspects of Ludlow's Heritage back to life that have been lost and forgotten, while providing exciting new experiences and information for all to see.

Completion is expected mid-2014

The Vision

We can now take a look to see what the new layout for the Buttercross could be like. 3D visuals (Shown Below) have been created to show the location of the exhibits. 3d visuals have allowed us to get an idea of how people may use the space and move around the building.

More information and images are available on the website:
www.ludlow.gov.uk

